

GAVIN LEATHERWOOD

BIOGRAPHY

This year Gavin Leatherwood can be seen starring in Netflix's hit drama-thriller series "Chilling Adventures of Sabrina," opposite Kiernan Shipka and Ross Lynch. The show debuted in 2018 and instantly became a global success, with critics calling the show "a surprisingly complex interrogation of power" (The Atlantic), "enchanted and relevant... it's fantastical and addresses real-world issues" (TV Fanatic) and "'Sabrina' is a blast" (New York Times). Bewitchingly stunning and wickedly spooky, Leatherwood joined the fresh faced cast with just a handful of television and film credits under his belt, and was instantly catapulted to heartthrob status as handsome warlock Nicholas Scratch (aka Nick), who befriends Sabrina (Shipka) at the Academy of Unseen Arts under the orders of the Dark Lord. "Chilling Adventures of Sabrina" returned to Netflix with brand new episodes on January 24, 2020.

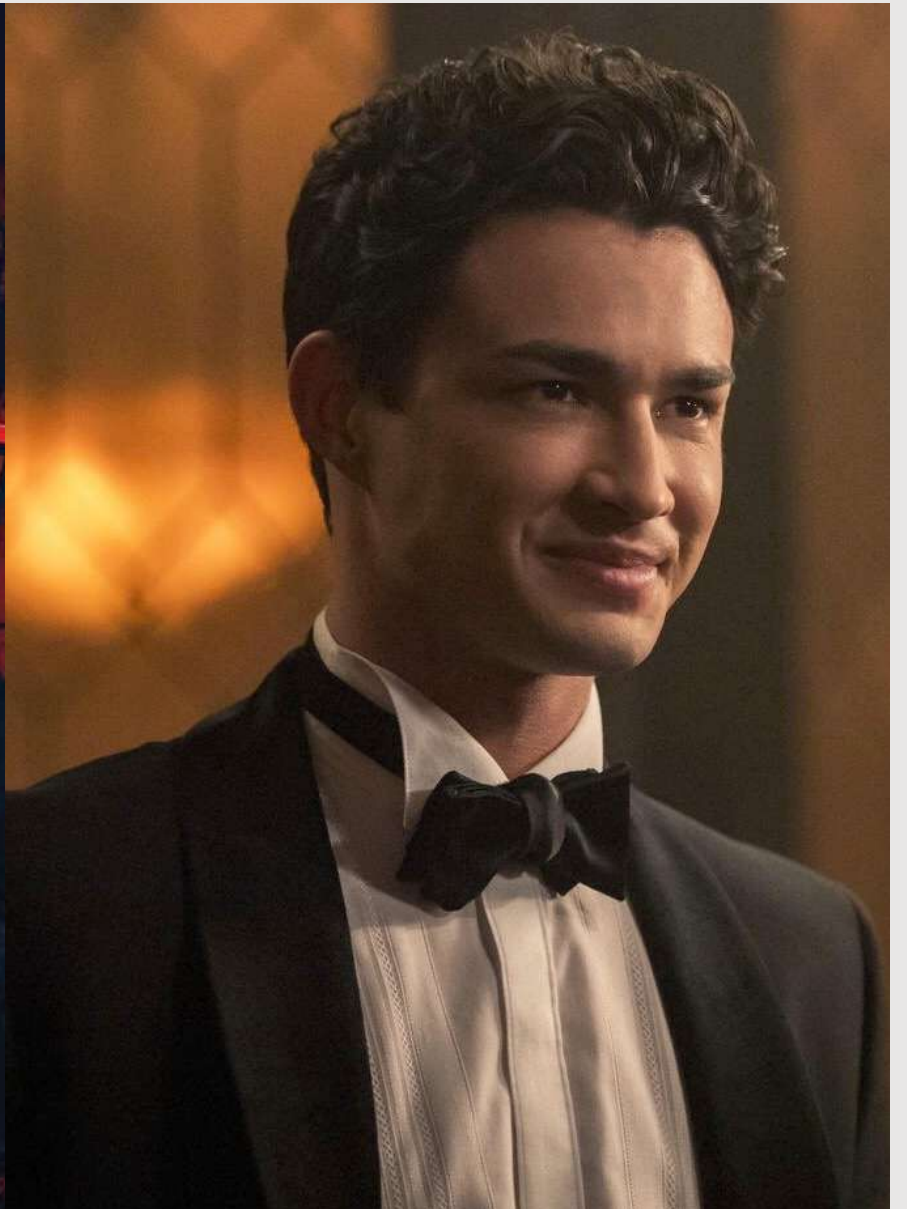

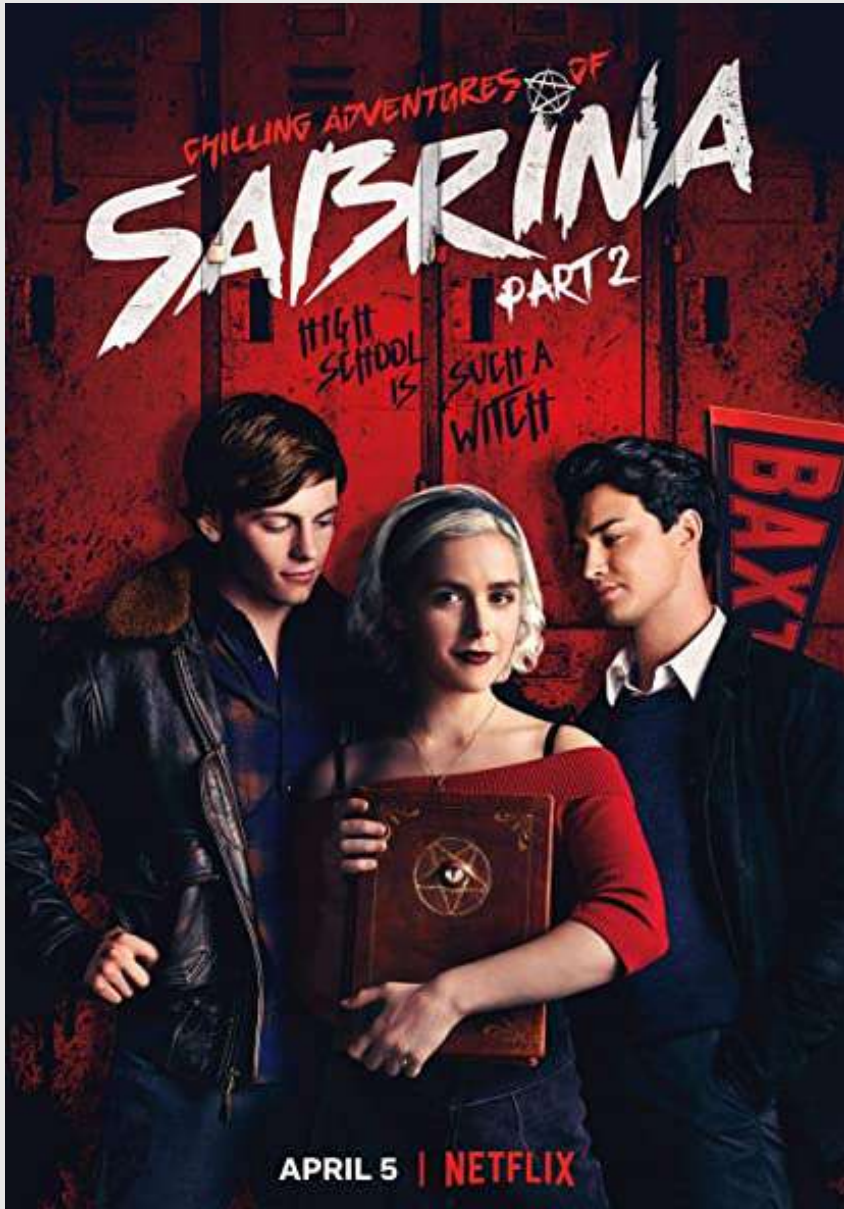

Before Leatherwood landed "Chilling Adventures of Sabrina" he honed his craft with a handful of recurring and guest role appearances in television, appearing on the popular Freeform series "Grown-ish," as well as CBS' longstanding drama series "NCIS," AwesomenessTV's "My Dead Ex," and securing a role in the indie film "#WhenTodayEnds."

Born in Maui, HI and raised in Orange County, CA, Leatherwood realized his passion for acting as he was growing up, visiting his mother while she was working as a general manager of a local theatre company. He auditioned for his first professional play at just six years old: Arthur Miller's All My Sons. From there, Leatherwood continued to perform on stage throughout his formative years, landing a role in the national Broadway tour of Peter Pan opposite Cathy Rigby from 2004-2006, and screenplays such as Elevator at The Coast Playhouse and Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat. Upon graduation from high school Leatherwood submitted himself on small acting gigs and commercials, and saved up enough money to drive to Los Angeles to pursue his dream of becoming an actor full time. He remained dedicated to the craft, immersing himself in classes and studying various acting methods including Chekhov and Meisner. In 2017 he began landing his first television credits, and he has been working ever since.

When Leatherwood is not on set he can be found exploring the outdoors (nature is his sanctuary), playing guitar, riding his bike or visiting his family on their large farm in Oregon. He is also a bit of a social media maverick, boasting over 2 million followers on Instagram, and counting. He currently is based in Vancouver, Canada where he films "Chilling Adventures of Sabrina."

THE BUZZ

“The third season of The Chilling Adventure of Sabrina has the advantage of a tight, bingeable format. It’s an eight episode sprint from start to finish.”

“The series has managed to one-up itself in a transformative manner.”

“Viewers are in for a treat as Sabrina, the daughter of Lucifer Morning star goes on the fiery journey to claim her blood right to the throne whilst destroying and saving the realms simultaneously.”

“We also get to see a whole new side of Nick, played by Gavin Leatherwood. It’s Leatherwood’s best and deepest performance yet.”

“With the entire cast firing on all cylinders, thanks to a story that delves deeper into supporting characters as well as the leads, Chilling Adventures Of Sabrina: Parts 3 hits a grand slam.”

“Chilling Adventures of Sabrina Season 3 hones in on what makes the show so much fun and amplifies it to its most ridiculous but oh-so-entertaining levels yet.”

“Chilling Adventures of Sabrina is fast becoming one of the best fantasy series of all time.

“The third season of many shows is where they hit their stride, and just like Game of Thrones shocked with the Red Wedding, Chilling Adventures of Sabrina doesn’t hold back in its penultimate episode.”

“Season 3 is off to a strong opening both in terms of plot and character development. It’s dark, funny and all kinds of crazy.”

“The cast of Chilling Adventures are more than a match for their heightened surroundings.”

“Despite the constant action, the season still attempts to have substantial character arcs. Nick has to deal with the trauma of what it was like to have been possessed by Satan, which Sabrina is wildly inept at helping him with.”

“Part 3 is hellishly fun, and it wouldn’t come off half as well as it does without its cast of younger actors who have grown into their roles over the course of the show.”

“I cannot stress how impressed I was with the spiral and eventual survival of complicated playboy Nick Scratch.”

DEADLINE

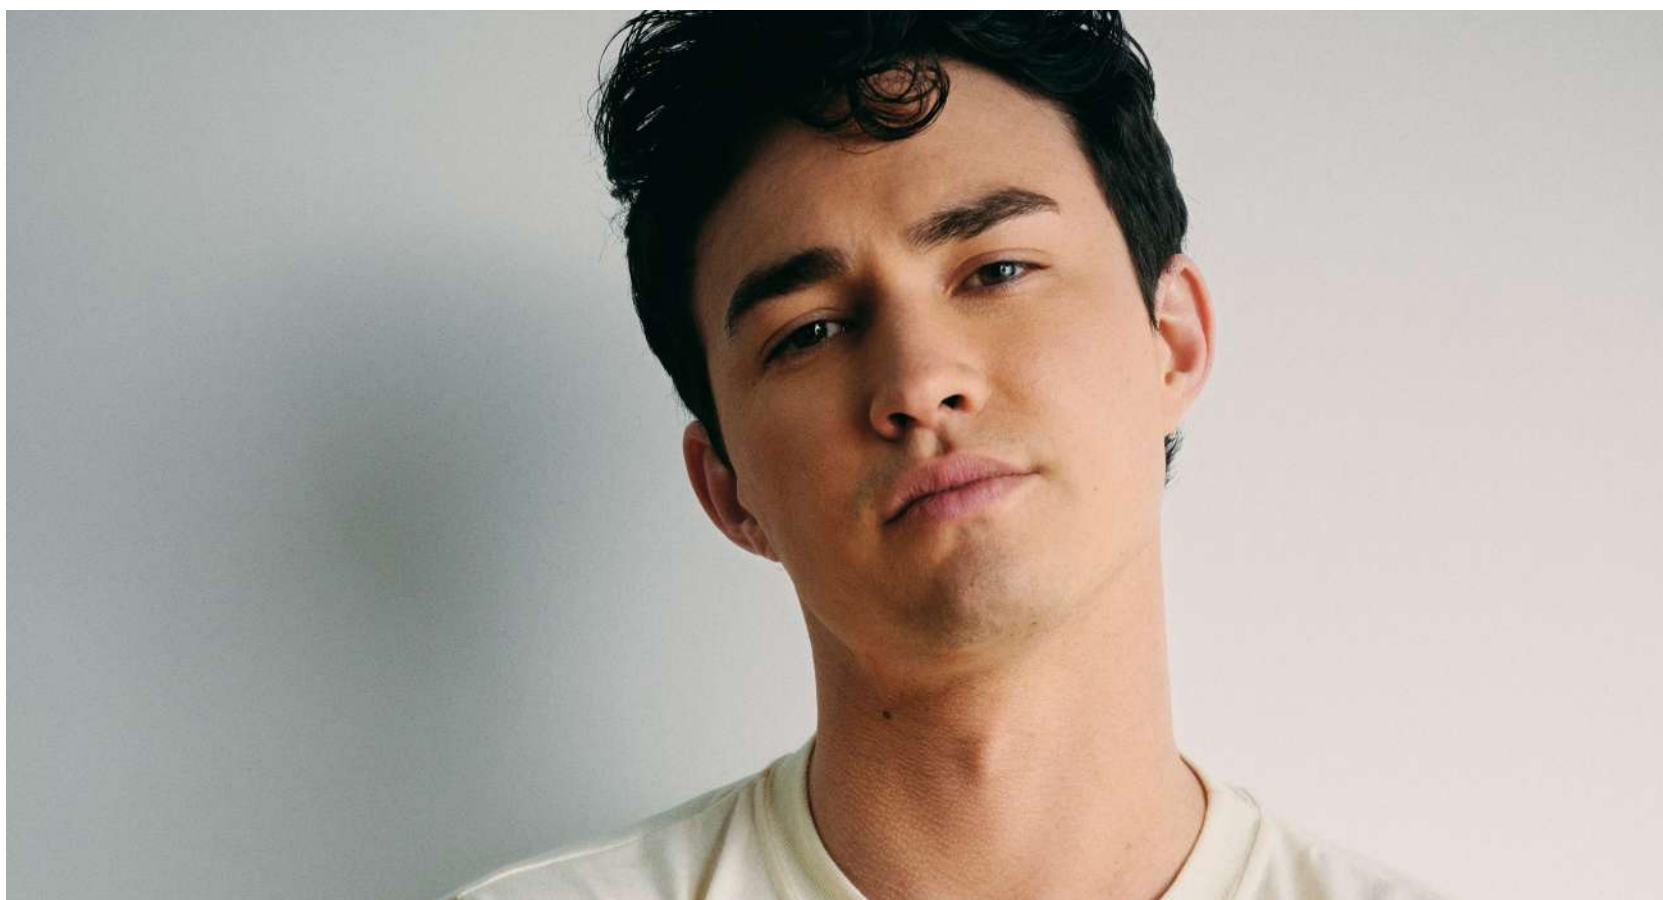

‘CHILLING ADVENTURES OF SABRINA’ UPS GAVIN LEATHERWOOD TO SERIES REGULAR

Gavin Leatherwood and Lachlan Watson, who have recurred on Parts 1 and 2 of Chilling Adventures of Sabrina, have been promoted to series regulars for Parts 3 and 4 of the Netflix series.

Chilling Adventures of Sabrina, from Warner Bros. Television and studio-based Berlanti Productions, imagines the origin and adventures of the popular Archie comics character Sabrina the Teenage Witch (Kiernan Shipka) as a dark coming-of-age story that traffics in horror, the occult and, of course, witchcraft. Tonally in the vein of Rosemary's Baby and The Exorcist, this adaptation finds Sabrina wrestling to reconcile her dual nature — half-witch, half-mortal — while standing against the evil forces that threaten her, her family and the daylight world humans inhabit.

Chilling Adventures Of Sabrina's Gavin Leatherwood on his off-screen bromance with Ross Lynch

The Chilling Adventures Of Sabrina returns for Part 2 this week, and fans are ~desperate~ to watch the love triangle between Sabrina Spellman, Harvey Kinkle and Nicholas Scratch unfold onscreen.

But another place romance (or should we bromance) is also unfolding is off-screen, with actor Gavin Leatherwood revealing to Cosmopolitan UK that he and Ross Lynch - who plays Harvey - developed the sweetest bond on set.

Gavin Leatherwood, The Chilling Adventures of Sabrina's Nick Scratch, Is Actually "Team Harvey"

Gavin Leatherwood claims he doesn't exactly know what an Internet boyfriend is, but it's only a matter of time, because Part 2 of Netflix's The Chilling Adventures of Sabrina premiered on Friday. Whereas Part 1 found the show's titular witch, played by Kiernan Shipka, in a relationship with Harvey Kinkle, a mortal played by Ross Lynch, Part 2 is all about Sabrina and Nick Scratch, a classmate and warlock played by Leatherwood. They'd already been flirting, but now it's official: "Harvey isn't my boyfriend anymore," Sabrina repeatedly tells her best friend Roz, a mortal played by Jaz Sinclair.

VOGUE

The Chilling Adventures of Sabrina's Gavin Leatherwood on being TV's boyfriend and how he survived high school

If you've watched Netflix's take on Sabrina the Teenage Witch, named The Chilling Adventures of Sabrina, then you'll have noticed that the similarities between the original and the reboot are scarce. So much so that Gavin Leatherwood, who plays warlock Nicholas Scratch, didn't feel the need to watch the '90s classic before assuming his career-defining role in the reimagined iteration.

In line with the show's return to the streaming platform—the second part of season one is on Netflix now—Leatherwood spoke with Vogue, confessing he was well aware the reboot's script reflected a completely different take on Sabrina the Teenage Witch.

Backstage 5 with...

Gavin Leatherwood

By Benjamin Lindsay

If you're a young actor who wants to be put on the map, you should already know the names Lyndsey Baldasare and David Rapaport. The casting directors behind the CW's various DC Universe series and "Riverdale" consistently spot the hottest Hollywood up-and-comers—and their "Chilling Adventures of Sabrina" breakout Gavin Leatherwood is just one. The 25-year-old actor recently sat with Backstage to discuss his audition for Netflix and the power of social media.

You have 3 million followers on Instagram. What are some practices you adhere to when posting on social media? It's something that I didn't really expect or know what to do with at first. I feel like there was a lot of trial and error. The saving grace with me and social media and blending the two worlds of being an actor and having a following was realizing that it's a beautiful platform for marketing and advertising—to attach something personal that in some positive sense felt more beneficial to people than going in-depth or spreading [negativity] and complaining. It just felt better to promote what's going on, show bits of personal life, and attach a personal message to it.

Has social media ever been a useful tool in your acting career? As far as that advertising stuff goes, yeah, absolutely. I mean, creative things have popped up from it. I did a spot for Degree; the creatives of that [project] told me, "We saw a video of you being a goofball playing 'Blackbird' on your guitar and just belting it out," and they loved that goofy nature.

How did you first get your SAG-AFTRA card? You know what? This. "Sabrina." I got my SAG card from doing this.

What was your audition for "Sabrina" like? I connected really strongly with the material. I was like, "I know this character for some reason." My first audition was for David Rapaport, and in the notes he included, "Nick Scratch is the most confident guy in the room." So I tried to walk in with that in mind. Head held high, make eye contact, the whole thing.

What is one piece of advice that you would give your younger self? Just be patient. I feel like I'm still learning that, too. It's a tough thing, because I was one of those kids who at a very early age would sit and think: How do I do this thing? [Acting] had been a lifelong dream since I was a kid in theater, where I was like, "I really wanna be an actor!" And I still am, you know what I mean? It's sort of this insatiable thing. There's no end to it. There's always this next performance or this next character that you want to be playing, and I feel like if you get too far ahead of yourself, it's only detrimental to your progress. So just sink in, relax, look at where you are, look at how far you've come, and continue learning and growing and progressing in all those ways. ■

"More often than not, in the other people's lines, you learn more about your character."

As it is something that he would have loved to see on social media when he was younger, the actor is driven by the idea to inspire his fans to follow their dreams. "I care about how people are receiving what I'm putting out and I really want to make an impact in some way," he tells. In addition to that, Gavin shares with us a piece of life advice that he loves. "Remain curious! I really think that's an important part of life that we should never lose sight of."

"A year ago, I was just a guy who wanted to be an actor and had no idea how to really get there," he expresses as our chat is coming to an end. "Now I'm able to live my dream because I kept believing in it. I think it is so important that if you have a dream, you have to honor that and chase it. Anything is possible. I just want people to know that."

We're just having too much fun this spring, sorry not sorry. Once again JON is out and upon the world, in a land of fewer and fewer magazines we are still here, and still LOLLing, at least quietly to ourselves.

This issue we met the stupidly handsome and very cool Gavin Leatherwood from The Chilling Adventures of Sabrina, which has re-exploded onto our TV's this Spring and we couldn't be more delighted. Gavin comes round and gets in our swimming pool, just wait till you see the photos. As always with JON, we only release a few online and you'll have to get your hands on a copy to see Gavin's shoot in all its beauty. We also met the super charming Aussie Ben Lawson from 13 Reasons Why and The Good Place, to drinks some coffee and eat some Aussie vegemite!

Don't miss this beautiful issue, out now.

Everything You Need to Know About "CAOS" Star Gavin Leatherwood

She described it as a rollercoaster ride. Before Gavin landed the role of Nick Scratch, he was literally a struggling artist, trying to book small TV roles and at one point, living in a small three bedroom apartment in Burbank, CA with five people. She says he would often call her when his name ended up on the short list for certain roles. Though she would feel happy for him, his past experiences being so close to the finish line and not getting the part would often worry her. She often wanted to tell him "not to get his hopes up," but would tell him she believed in him, instead. "Gavin is resilient and brave and, most importantly, he believes in himself. He knows that this is what he does, what he is meant to do, what he loves. And, it's do or die for him. So, he fights, and he fights and he hangs tough and knows in his heart he will make it ...someday," she writes in her blog.

Chilling Adventures of Sabrina* Star Gavin Leatherwood Hinted He Also Auditioned for *The Little Mermaid

Since The Little Mermaid live-action remake was announced, the internet has embarked on a relentless quest to find the Prince Eric to Halle Bailey's now confirmed Ariel — and it sure looks like Chilling Adventures of Sabrina's Gavin Leatherwood could be a new contender in the race.

As reported by JustJared Jr., Gavin hinted he possibly auditioned for the coveted role of Prince Eric himself back in August. When a fan prompted him to "audition for prince eric" on Twitter, the actor simply responded with a cryptic, "Maybe I already have," alongside a flushed face emoji.

Based on his work in CAOS, Gavin could easily fit into the role, so if he has indeed already auditioned, he'd prove himself a great contender. Plus, you know, it'd be nice to see him out of actual hell for once (and in some literal deep water instead).

Gavin Leatherwood Talks To Us About The Comic Book Aesthetic Of 'Chilling Adventures Of Sabrina'

Netflix's Riverdale spinoff, Chilling Adventures Of Sabrina, has (so far) managed not to ruin your childhood while bringing the Archie comic book series of the same name to life on the small screen. That's quite a feat, especially considering how Riverdale has arguably jumped the shark numerous times during its run. Part Three will see Kiernan Shipka's teenage witch following up on the infernal threats of the sophomore season. That round ended with Sabrina Spellman's warlock boyfriend, Nicholas Scratch (Gavin Leatherwood), valiantly sacrificing himself to the Dark Lord in her place.

This season, Sabrina fights to bring Nick back from Hell, but not all is smooth sailing after the horrors that he experienced. Gavin was gracious enough to talk with us about Nick's fate and the consistently gorgeous visuals on this TV show. We also couldn't help but ask him about that Netflix promotional video where he sensually basted a turkey for the fans. Praise Satan (!) that Gavin's got a healthy and self-deprecating sense of humor.

50 Shades of Scratch: Sabrina star on Nick's BDSM turn in Part 3, and wilder Part 4

Gavin Leatherwood is a little under the weather. Wrestling with inner demons, wrestling with an actual demon, tripping on enough drugs to down a small army, and venturing into the BDSM scene, understandably, takes a lot out of you. The 25-year-old Oregon native turned Netflix thirst trap fights back a cough as he tries to wrap his head around the character arc for warlock Nicholas Scratch on Chilling Adventures of Sabrina's Part 3. The BDSM, especially. "What a wonderful world to dive into it on camera!" he says.
